FAC slates auditions for summer musical

The Performing Arts Division of the Lynchburg Fine Arts Center will hold open auditions for the youth-adult summer musical, Alice In Wonderland, on Thursday, July 5, and Friday, July 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lynchburg Fine Arts Center theatre.

The production, which is under the co-direction of Stephen L. and Nikki B. Carr, is an adaptation by Eva Le Gallienne and Florida Friebus of Lewis Carroll's Alice in Wonderland and Through The Looking Glass.

Musical numbers for the show have been contributed by Richard Addinsell. The three have combined their talents to create a stage version of Alice In Wonderland that is, "a journey into a world of complete illusion, fantastic shapes and unreal perspective."

The show contains material that is relevant to a wide audience, both children and adults. Therefore, casting for the show allows for between 30 and 40 adults of all shapes and sizes, high school seniors or older, to combine with 20 actors from the Advanced Youtheatre Workshop.

Some of the notable adult roles include the Queen of Hearts, the Mad Hatter, Humpty Dumpty, the Mock Turtle, The Red Chess Queen, King of Hearts, the Cook and the Cheshire Cat.

Those interested in solo singing roles are asked to have one prepared memorized piece. An accompanist will be provided but will not transpose music. All solo selections must have piano accompaniment.

Scripts for the show may be checked out through the Lynchburg Fine Arts Center beginning the 4 p.m. A $5.00 refundable deposit is required on each script.

It is a show which allows everyone the unique opportunity to act out a wonderful fantasy.

For information call the Lynchburg Fine Arts Center at 846-8451.

Ferguson completes training

Pvt. Herman C. Ferguson Jr., son of Herman C. and Margaret A. Ferguson of Rural Route 1, Appomattox, Va., has completed basic training at Fort Dix, N.J.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Women's seminar scheduled

A women's studies seminar will be offered at Lynchburg College during the third summer school term and is open to all interested persons.

The seminar will be an interdisciplinary course focusing on images of women in American literature and popular culture from colonial times to the present. Novels, plays, poems, movies and lyrics will be discussed and contemporary trends will receive attention in an effort to produce new perspectives.

The instructor will be Dr. JoAnn Moody, formerly associate professor of English at Lynchburg College, currently affiliated with the New England Board of Higher Education.

The seminar will be held July 2 - July 19 at 6:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday in room 13 of Hopwood Hall. Tuition for three semester hours of undergraduate credit will be $285, and non-credit/audit will be $142.50.

For further information, contact the Continuing Education Office, Lynchburg College, Lynchburg, Va. 24501 or call (804) 523-5325.
